PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

We thank Thee, O God, for the privilege of looking up to Thy throne and calling Thee "Our Father." We own our unworthiness when we remember Thy majesty. Yet our spirits are restless until we find rest in Thee.

When the pathway before us seems dark, be Thou our light. When all that is lovely and beautiful seems to have vanished; when shadows hang over us through long and trying hours; when friends forsake and the sense of shame is upon us, —then may our hearts cry out. "God knows and cares."

Bless the Speaker and members of this House, give to each both physical and moral strength for the exacting duties of the day. Bless those who serve in humbler stations. And may the friendships here formed, and the fellowship of these swiftly passing days be to each of us a precious memory. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

RESOLUTION

Mr. SARIG offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over for printing under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, May 26, 1931.

Whereas, During last year's campaign Governor Pinchot declared himself in favor of economy, tax-reduction and against further increases in taxation, and

Whereas, Many members of the Legislature, who still take their political pledges seriously, have either of their own initiative, or in following the lead of Governor Pinchot, pledged themselves in favor of tax-reduction and in opposition to any increases in taxation, and

Whereas, Governor Pinchot has now become as silent as the Sphinx on economy and on tax-reduction, and has become the outstanding champion of further increases in taxation, and

Whereas, Governor Pinchot is now trying to coerce many members of the Legislature into breaking their honest and sincere pledges to the people by threatening to hold them responsible for impairing the hospital and Mother's Assistance Fund appropriations in case they refuse to violate their campaign pledges, and

Whereas, Such an attempt at coercion, and such a threat is wholly unjustifiable, un-called for, indecent, and contrary to every sound principle of our form of government in view of the fact that an honest and sincere effort at genuine economy on the part of the Pinchot administration would obviate all danger to our charitable appropriations, and

Whereas, According to the official accounts published in the newspapers the Executive Department under Pinchot—which means the Governor's office, is—in the Governor's own language—spending the taxpayers' money like drunken sailors,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, If the Senate concur, that the members of the General Assembly go on record as being unalterably opposed to the callous, cold-hearted, hard-boiled policy of Governor Pinchot in trying to single out the widows, the orphans, and the sick and afflicted of every kind, as the first victims in the reducing of state appropriations, and

Be It Further Resolved, That we recommend as the best solution to the state's fiscal difficulties, a careful re-reading and a careful re-study by Governor Pinchot of his campaign pledges in regard to economy, tax-reduction, and opposition to tax-increases and more especially a true, faithful and sincere effort to carry out those pledges, and

Be It Further Resolved, That in the interest of justice, decency, and fair play we also recommend to Governor Pinchot a most careful re-reading, and re-study of the Constitution of Pennsylvania with especial reference to that part which defines the rights, duties, powers and functions of the three coordinate branches of the government, in the hope that such study may cause the present Governor to mind his own business and permit the General Assembly to take care of its own affairs.

FILES OF MEMBERS TO BE DELIVERED

Mr. GOEHRING offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Whereas, The files of the bills presented to and the proceedings of the General Assembly of the Session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one are the property of the members thereof, and are desired for preservation by said members, and

Whereas, Said files have, at former sessions, been forwarded to the homes of the members at the conclusion of the Session by the Departmenet of Property and Supplies, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the said Department of Property and Supplies shall be requested by the Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives to forward such files and supplies belonging to the Members of the House of Representatives as they may designate, to such address as shall be furnished by them to the said Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the said Resident Clerk to the Secretary of the said Department of Property and Supplies.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, during the past three sessions of the legislature, it has been my honor to serve as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and from the beginning of the time that I took the chairmanship of that Committee, it has been our practice to submit to the legislatures, to the Department of Revenue, presently, but heretofore to the Auditor General, and to the Chief Executive a comprehensive report of the studies made by that Committee through its several members divided into a sub-committee of the budget estimates submitted in the early days of each session. That work for the present session has been completed. I will not attempt to read the entire report to you, but suffice it to say that the result of the investigation and study in which we were assisted most capably by statistician Henry VanPelt, to whom credit should be given for the compilation, is now ready for presentation to the House.

From that study which the committee has prepared, I report to you that the budget as presented and submitted in the early days of the session showing anticipated revenue of approximately $159,000,000, is supported fully. We have found that in previous sessions of the legislature, due to a desire to be conservative, the revenue collecting arm of the government has always underestimated actual receipts as against estimates made before those receipts were actually in the treasury. In the biennium 1925-27 the present chief of the Department of Revenue collected 9.8% more than he submitted as his estimate of collections. In the subsequent biennium 1927-29, there was collected 22.1% more than was estimated in the budget, and in the biennium 1929 to 1931 there was collected 38.5 per cent more than was submitted to this Legislature at the beginning of that session. But, in spite of that difference, in view of the period of depression that we are going through, in view of the very great impairment in the corporate earnings and in the value of corporate assets, we find that the estimates submitted by the Secretary of Revenue are supported by the facts. We find that in the bracket relating to taxes received by this Commonwealth from gross receipts on insurance premiums and other insurance taxes that the Commonwealth is likely to receive anywhere from one million thirty-three thousand to two million dollars more than is estimated in the budget. We find also that in the inheritance tax bracket, which according to the budget will return to the Commonwealth in the next biennium $48,000,000, subsequently reduced by Dr. King to $40,000,000, that there the Commonwealth will probably receive several million dollars more than the budget estimate shows. Only in the event that there is a return to normalcy, only in the event that certain measures, which have just passed this House, will ultimately pass to the Governor's desk and become laws, will the actual receipts during the next biennium exceed the budget estimates.

Mr. Speaker, I want to take this opportunity to thank each member of the Ways and Means Committee for the wholesome cooperation that he has given the chairman and at this time to present to the House the report of the committee, and ask that it be spread upon the Journal.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal and the report submitted by the Committee on Ways and Means will be spread at length upon the Journal.

COMMENTS OF THE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE ON THE BUDGET FOR 1931-33.

The Ways and Means Committee, in pursuance of its duty to ascertain how much revenue will be available for the Commonwealth during the coming biennium, has carefully checked the figures contained in the Budget with such data as were available, and respectfully submits herewith its conclusions in reference thereto.

Former Budget Estimates and Actual Revenue Compared

Estimates of General Fund Revenue, submitted to the General Assembly in the form of an official budget, have invariably been on the conservative side. Beginning with the Budget submitted in 1925 for the biennium 1925-27, the published estimates and the actual results have been as follows:

Budget of	Estimated General Fund revenue	Actual General Fund revenue	Budget too low by——	Actual over Budget
1925-27	$128,037,500*	$140,613,701	$12,576,201	9.8%
1927-29	130,036,756	158,736,200	28,699,444	22.1%
1929-31	144,126,000	199,652,403	55,526,403	38.5%

* Excluding gasoline tax deposited in special fund.
 Last two months of biennium estimated by Department of Revenue.

In these figures it has not been possible to allow for changes in the tax laws that went into effect after the estimates were made. Some of these changes have lowered actual revenue receipts and others have raised them. Even bearing this fact in mind, however, the wide divergence between estimate and actuality clearly indicates the natural tendency of budget makers to be unduly cautious and conservative, and suggests that the published Budget for 1931-1933 showing anticipated General Fund revenues of $159,174,528 may prove to be too low. Should the percentage of error be only as great as in the lowest of the three former bienniums, the present Budget would be too low by over $15,000,000. The Ways and Means Committee, bearing in mind the present condition of business, does not contend that revenues will certainly exceed the Budget estimate by that amount, but it does submit that in view of past experience the final results may easily surpass Budget expectations by several millions of dollars.

Capital Stock Tax

The published Budget estimates show an estimated revenue from the capital stock tax (including the tax on trust company shares of $35,550,000 for the biennium 1931-33 as compared with $45,935,067 for the current biennium, a decrease of 22.6 per cent. On March 18, the Revenue Department submitted to the Senate Finance Committee a revised estimate of revenues and receipts in the current biennium, according to which the revenue from capital stock taxes is expected to reach $46,661,147. It now appears that capital stock taxes (including the trust company tax) will amount to over $48,500,000.

At first glance, the Budget estimate of $35,550,000 for 1931-33 appears to be too low in the light of actual collections of $48,500,000 in 1929-31. It must be remembered, however, that the Revenue Department in the current biennium has collected several millions of capital stock taxes for 1929 and prior years in excess of what can be expected in 1931-33 from delinquent capital stock taxes for 1931 and prior years. In view of this fact and the serious business depression now existing, is a decrease of about 25 per cent reasonably to be expected in capital stock collections during the coming biennium? The Committee believes the Budget estimate for this item is justified and bases its conclusion on the following data.

Market price is one of several elements entering into the determination of value for the purpose of taxing capital stock. Price quotations on the New York Stock Exchange during the first five months of 1931 have averaged about half as high as average prices throughout 1929 and about 45 per cent below the average for 1929 and 1930 combined. These quotations are for active stocks, many of them speculative in character, whose fluctuations may be expected to swing through a wider range than would be the case with nonspeculative issues not listed on the Stock Exhange. After making due allowance for relatively inactive stocks that have remained more stable in price, it seems entirely reasonable to expect a level of stock values in the years 1931-32 at least 25 per cent lower than in 1929-30.

Another measure of the value of stock for purposes of taxation is net earnings. Since, however, net earnings are only one factor which the taxing officers are bound to take into consideration, under the court decisions, in arriving at the taxable value of capital stock, it does not follow that if net earnings of a given company drop 50 per cent, its capital stock tax will likewise drop that much. In actual practice, the capital stock tax has fluctuated much less widely than would a tax based solely on corporate net profits. A comprehensive picture of corporate net profits in the United States in 1930 as compared with 1929 is presented in the following exhibit compiled from data published by the National City Bank of New York:

No.	Industry	Net profits 1929	Net profits 1930	Per cent change
1560	Manufacturing and trading .	$4,063,496	$2,246,140	— 44.7
155	Class I railroads	861,000	499,000	— 42.1
51	Electric light, gas, etc.	541,867	551,285	+ 1.7
24	Bell Telephone Companies ..	217,105	201,646	— 7.1
50	New York banks	222,509	126,634	— 43.1
60	Fire and casualty insurance	71,064	—108,324	....
1900	Grand total	$5,983,049	$3,516,381	— 41.1

(Amounts in thousands of dollars)

For the 1560 manufacturing, mining and mercantile companies publishing annual statements and included in the foregoing exhibit, net profits in the aggregate declined 44.7 per cent in 1930 as compared with the banner year 1929. Net profits of 155 Class I railroads declined 42.1 per cent. The rate of return on net worth of the 1560 corporations was 12.6 per cent in 1929 and 6.3 per cent, or exactly half as high, in 1930. For the 155 Class I railroads, the rate of return figured on the same basis dropped from 5.9 per cent in 1929 to 3.3 per cent in 1930. These represent very serious declines, and the Ways and Means Committee, after careful consideration, is of the opinion that the facts warrant a reduction in the estimated yield of the capital stock tax for 1931-33 to the Budget figures of $35,550,000, which is about 25 per cent below receipts for 1929-31.

Insurance Premiums Tax

The principal item in the Budget under this heading is the tax on net premiums of foreign insurance companies. Actual revenues from this source for 11 months of the present fiscal year have been $5,065,710, and for the preceding fiscal year $4,812,572, or a total of $9,878,282 for 23 months of the biennium 1929-31. Assuming there are no additional revenues of this character during May, which may or may not be the case, actual revenues for the biennium from foreign life insurance companies will be $102,710 greater than was estimated when the Budget was made up last October, and $177,105 greater than the revised estimate of the Department of Revenue submitted to the Senate Finance Committee, March 18, 1931.

For the coming biennium 1931-33, the Budget has estimated the revenue from foreign life insurance companies at $4,500,000 annually, a reduction of 11.2 per cent from actual collections during 11 months of 1930-31. Is such an unfavorable prediction justified for a business which during the depression year of 1930 raised the amount of life insurance in force from $103,000,000,000 at the end of 1929 to $108,000,000,000 at the close of 1930? This increase, it should be observed, is net after deducting death claims and policies lapsed or canceled.

Forty-four of the leading insurance companies of the United States, handling 82 per cent of the legal reserve business of the country, report their sales monthly to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. Beginning with January, 1929, these sales of new insurance have been as follows (in millions of dollars):

Month	1929	1930	1931
January	1,024	995	888
February	973	1,003	912
March	1,169	1,222	1,028
April	1,122	1,194	1,025
May	1,152	1,098
June	1,098	1,044
July	1,094	1,092
August	1,017	929
September	905	894
October	1,053	915
November	1,040	861
December	1,236	1,112
Year	12,883	12,459

It is obvious from these figures that life insurance sales slowed down in the latter half of 1930, but the important fact from the standpoint of State revenue is that sales are still far in excess of what they must be to offset policies currently maturing or canceled. Comparing 1930 with 1920, sales of life insurance in the United States were 3 per cent lower, while at the same time premiums received increased 5 per cent. As a matter of fact, if sales in 1930 had fallen off 34 per cent (instead of 3 per cent), the amount of insurance in force at the end of the year would still have increased slightly over that at the end of 1929. It follows that life insurance sales in 1931 and 1932 may be lower than in 1930, cancellations may continue at an abnormally high rate, but because the amount of insurance in force is constantly increasing, the net premiums received and the taxes thereon will be greater than in 1930.

Despite depressed business conditions, premiums received by American insurance companies set a new high record in 1930. During the past three years gross premiums received by the 65 largest life insurance companies, representing 92 per cent of the total premium income of all American companies in 1928, have been as follows:

1928	$2,894,304,512
1929	3,097,210,165
1930	3,254,764,899

The increase in gross premiums, as shown above, was 7 per cent in 1929 over 1928, and 5 per cent in 1930 over 1929. It is entirely reasonable to suppose that gross premiums (and also net premiums) will increase further in 1931 and 1932, but probably at a slower rate.

A good deal has been said about the present abnormally high rate of insurance cancellations, yet a careful study of the available statistics on the subject will show that the effect of this factor on the State's revenue from insurance premiums can easily be greatly overemphasized. In the first place, cancellations in 1930, although they are known to have been much higher than usual (complete figures are not available), fell short by five billions of dollars of offsetting the 5 per cent net increase of insurance in force that actually occurred during the year. Secondly, concellations of policies in Pennsylvania, reported to the Department of Revenue by 18 companies in response to a special questionnaire, including also maturities by death, lapsed policies, etc., amounted on the average to only 60 or 65 per cent of the new insurance sold by the same companies in Pennsylvania during 1930. It should be observed that fully half of such cancellations and maturities in 1930 represented maturities by death, expiration, etc., which are an entirely normal and essentially constant factor present at all times. Thirdly, when the increase in policy "cancellations," as distinct from maturities, in Pennsylvania in 1930 is divided by 35 or 40 to reduce it from terms of face amount of policy to terms of premium, and when this in turn is divided by 50 to obtain the loss in tax (2 per cent of net premiums), the result is surprisingly small.

As an example, one of the leading companies in the United States, receiving over $50,000,000 annually in gross premiums on its Pennsylvania business, reported a small increase in cancellations during 1930, which would result in a loss of revenue to the State of $397.44 in 1930 as compared with $357.54 in 1929, or a difference between the two years of $39.90 in taxes. Offsetting this trifling loss from cancellations, however, is the tax on the increased business done by this company in Pennsylvania in 1930, amounting to an increase of $4,194,534 in gross premiums, on which the State will receive at least $60,000 additional in taxes for 1930 over and above the amount paid by this company in 1929. In other words, increased cancellations reported by this particular company reduced the revenues of the Commonwealth by $39.90, but at the same time the company's increased business added over $60,000 to its tax bill in Pennsylvania. In brief, a good many millions of insurance may be canceled, and yet the effect on taxes is not of great importance in comparison with the 100 billions and more of insurance now in force in the United States and the 12 to 15 billions of new insurance that are sold each year.

Taxes on life insurance premiums vary according to the amount of those premiums, which in turn, for purposes of comparison over limited periods, fluctuate closely with the amount of insurance in force. Insurance in force at the end of a given year is insurance in force at the beginning of the year, plus sales of new insurance during the year, less amount of policies surrendered through death claims, cancellations, etc. For the 44 leading companies handling 82 per cent of the legal reserve business of the United States, this works out as follows for the year 1930:

Insurance in force, Dec. 31, 1929,	$84,646,000,000
Plus insurance sold in 1930,	12,459,000,000
Total,	97,105,000,000
Less policies surrendered, canceled, etc.,	8,397,000,000
Insurance in force, Dec. 31, 1930,	$88,708,000,000

During the first four months of 1931, sales of these 44 companies have been $3,853,000,000, as compared with $4,414,000,000 during the same period of last year, a decline of 12.7 per cent. If we assume this same rate of decline from 1930 throughout 1931, we have a sales estimate for this year of $10,875,000,000. This, however, is unreasonably low because we are comparing 1931 sales with the first part of 1930 when sales set a new high record for all time, after which they declined during the latter half of the year to a low level from which there has been a well sustained recovery in recent months. It is more reasonable to estimate that sales will continue at about the present average rate, which would make total sales for 1931 something over $11,500,000,000, as against $12,459,000,000 in 1930 and $12,883,000,000 in 1929.

We have seen that policies surrendered, canceled, etc., for the 44 leading companies in 1930 amounted to $8,397,000,000. A liberal estimate for this item in 1931 would be $9,000,000,000. From these estimates, starting with actual insurance in force on December 31, 1930, we may set up the following estimate for 1931:

Actual insurance in force, Dec. 31, 1930,	$88,708,000,000
Estimated sales during 1931,	11,500,000,000
Total,	100,208,000,000
Estimated policies surrendered, canceled, etc.,	9,000,000,000
Estimated insurance in force, Dec. 31, 1931,	$91,208,000,000

It may therefore be estimated that average insurance in force during 1931 (approximately by averaging together the amounts at the beginning and end of the year) will be $89,958,000,000 as compared with an average of $86,677,000,000 in 1930. The rate of increase in 1931 over 1930 on this basis is 3.8 per sent. In applying this general percentage increase of insurance in force to the particular case of Pennsylvania, and in assuming that premiums fluctuate in about the same proportion as insurance in force, it is well to be on the conservative side, and we will therefore use a 3 per cent rate of annual increase for our calculation of the 1931 and 1932 premiums tax rather than 3.8 per cent, as above calculated. This gives the following results for revenue from the insurance premium tax on foreign life insurance companies in the biennium 1931-33:

Fiscal year	Business year	Estimated revenue
1931-32	1931	$5,217,681
1932-33	1932	5,374,211
Total, biennium 1931-33, ...		$10,591,892

The above calculations are believed to fully justify an estimated yield of the tax on foreign life insurance companies in Pennsylvania of $10,500,000 in the next biennium.

Inheritance Taxes

Payment of inheritance taxes probably averages about 18 months after date of death. That means the midpoint for date of death in relation to taxes collected during the biennium 1929-31 was about November 1, 1928, and the midpoint for date of appraisal (or date of death) for the coming biennium 1931-33 is about November 1, 1930. Stated more broadly, the biennial period of appraisal most nearly paralleling the fiscal biennium 1929-31 was Nov. 1, 1927, to Nov. 1, 1929, and the biennial period of appraisal paralleling the fiscal biennium 1931-33 is Nov. 1, 1929, to Nov. 1, 1931.

It follows from the above statement that tax payments on estates of persons dying after Nov. 1, 1931, (especially in the case of large estates) are not likely to fall within the biennium 1931-33, but in the biennium following. This is borne out by the fact that, of 230 persons dying since Nov. 1, 1927, leaving estates of $500,000 and over on which inheritance taxes have been paid up to April, 1931, only 36 were decedents dying after November 1, 1929.

An invaluable source of data regarding the relative amounts of difference classes of property in estates is provided by the returns to the Federal Government under the Federal estates tax. The latest published figures cover returns on the 8,582 estates filed during the calendar year 1929 and show the following percentage distribution:

Real estate	14,83[illegible]
Bonds	13.11
Capital stock in corporations	48.40
Mortgages, notes, cash, etc.	9.92
Insurance	3.25
All other property	10.49
Total	100.00

Among these classes of property, stocks are the only class which has fallen greatly in value during the last year or two. Real estate has been dull, it is true, and forced sales have been at considerable sacrifices, as is always the case in periods of depression, but such sales have not been general enough to affect the prices which real estate owners as a class are willing to accept. Nor has there been any general reduction in real estate assessments throughout the State.

Stock prices, on the other hand, after reaching a very high peak in September, 1929, have undergone drastic liquidation for a period of 20 months, interrupted only by an upward movement lasting four months in the early part of 1930 and a short rally early this year. The average monthly prices in dollars of 200 stocks, as computed by the "Business Index" for the year 1927 to 1930, inclusive, are set forth below.

January	66	84	108	83
February	67	84	113	88
March	70	82	112	90
April	67	88	108	95
May	68	89	111	88
June	72	91	102	89
July	71	85	113	72
August	75	86	116	77
September	77	91	125	77
October	79	93	116	70
November	75	96	96	61
December	82	107	82	59

Reverting to our discussion of the appraisal period most nearly corresponding to each fiscal year for inheritance tax purposes, we obtain the following average stock prices:

Fiscal year	Appraisal period	Aver. stock prices	Percentage basis
1929-30	Nov. 1927—Oct. 1928	$85.80	100
1930-31	Nov. 1928—Oct. 1929	110.60	129
1931-32	Nov. 1929—Oct. 1930	83.90	98
1932-33	Nov. 1930—Oct. 1931*	55.00	64

*Last 5 months estimated.

For ready reference and comparison, actual inheritance tax collections by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the last six years are set forth below:

Fiscal year	Resident transfer and estate tax	Total inheritance taxes
1925-26	$12,649,326	$14,070,597
1926-27	16,178,490	17,429,665
1927-28	15,551,694	17,160,872
1928-29	16,580,538	17,526,066
1929-30	26,053,212	26,840,778
1930-31*	38,240,000	38,681,636

*May, 1931, estimated by Department of Revenue.

On May 7, 1927, the Pennsylvania statute taking advantage of the 80 per cent tax credit in the Federal estate tax law went into effect, and in the fiscal year 1929-30 this State began to derive a very substantially increased revenue from this source. That year, therefore, is a reasonable starting point for estimating inheritance tax revenues during the next biennium, particularly since the following fiscal year (1930-31) was not a normal year by reason of the inclusion of the exceptionally large Rodman Wanamaker estate.

It has already been pointed out that estate returns filed with the Federal Government during 1929 showed 48 per cent of total assets to be in stocks and 52 per cent in other property. If we apply these proportions to the data set forth in the last two tables opposite the fiscal year 1929-30, we may proceed to calculate the amount of inheritance tax revenue to be expected during the next biennium, taking into full account the drastic fall in stock prices. Such a calculation for stocks is presented in the next table, together with figures for all other property, the latter being based on decreases of 5 and 10 per cent, respectively, in the fiscal years 1931-32 and 1932-33.

Fiscal year	Resident transfer and estate taxes on— Stocks	Other property	Total
1931-32	$12,255,000	$12,870,000	$25,125,000
1932-33	8,003,000	12,193,000	20,196,000
Total biennium 1931-33			$45,321,000

Substantially the same result is obtained from a similar calculation based upon actual collections during the fiscal year 1930-31, excluding from consideration payments received during the year on the exceptionally large estate of Rodman Wanamaker. Such agreement, depending upon a high degree of correlation between inheritance tax collections and stock prices 18 months earlier, provides additional evidence of the soundness of this method of estimating, and attaches greater weight to the results.

It should be observed that the foregoing estimate does not take account of possible revenue from estates of very extraordinary size, such as come but once in several years, although two very large estates are now awaiting settlement of the question of State of domicile, on which Pennsylvania has an excellent chance of eventually receiving additional taxes running into many millions of dollars. However, both the probable time of settlement and the amount of these two estates are still so indefinite that they can not be counted upon for revenue in the next biennium.

The Ways and Means Committee, therefore, estimates inheritance tax revenues, including the non-resident transfer tax and the collateral and direct taxes under the old Acts of 1887 and 1917, which were not included in the last table, at a total of $46,000,000 for the biennium 1931-33. This is $2,650,000 below the amount in the printed Budget, but is higher than the later estimates of the Department of Revenue.

Brief Comments on Other Items

The Budget carries an estimate for Delaware River Bridge tolls of $1,400,000 in 1931-33, but the Ways and Means Committee has received a letter from the Secretary of the Delaware River Bridge Commission estimating tolls as $760,000 in 1931-32 and $775,000 in 1932-33, or a total of $1,535,000 for the biennium. This amount, which is $135,000 over the Budget, the Ways and Means Committee submits as the most reliable estimate available.

Senate Bill 918, which has already been passed by the Senate, will, if enacted, result in repayment to the Commonwealth of all moneys contributed by it toward the cost of constructing the Delaware River Bridge between Philadelphia and Camden, with interest at four per cent per annum from the dates of original payment by the Commonwealth, less the amounts returned to the Commonwealth from the net revenues of the bridge up to June 31, 1931, and less interest on the amounts returned. Under this bill the Commonwealth will cease to receive its share of current tolls on and after July 1, 1931, but instead will be reimbursed for all past outlays on the bridge, the sums to provide for such reimbursement to be obtained through the public sale of bonds secured by bridge revenues. The Ways and Means Committee has reported the bill favorably, believing that the theory underlying the bill is sound and that the $13,000,000, which, it is estimated, will be paid to the Commonwealth in the coming biennium, is additional revenue badly needed at this time.

House Bill 1483, which has already passed the House, imposes a tax of eight mills on the gross receipts of individuals, partnerships and corporations engaged in the business of carrying passengers or property for hire in motor vehicles over the highways of Pennsylvania. The enactment of this bill will preserve the constitutionality of the gross receipts tax on other classes of common carriers and will bring additional revenue into the General Fund from companies operating entirely within Pennsylvania. In addition, the bill provides that such taxes as are collected from companies operating over routes partly within the Commonwealth and partly outside shall be credited to the Motor License Fund for highway purposes. Satisfactory data are not available upon which to base an estimate of the amount of revenue which this bill will bring in, but it seems likely to amount to several millions of dollars in a biennium.

The Committee calls special attention also to House bills 1073 and 1480 now pending, both of which, if enacted, will preserve the revenues collectible under the capital stock tax. House bill 1073 provides for the proportional method of deducting assets, which are exempted or relieved from the capital stock tax, as against the flat deduction method upheld in a recent court decision. House bill 1480 restricts exemptions under the capital stock tax in the case of a corporation owning less than a majority of the shares of voting stock of another corporation, and does away with the wide latitude under the present law in defining "business auxiliary to the business of the owning corporation." The importance of these two measures may be appreciated from the fact that the Department of Revenue estimates a loss in capital stock tax collections of $5,000,000 in the next biennium if No. 1073 is not passed, and a separate loss of $2,000,000 if No. 1480 fails of passage. With respect to the effect of these two bills upon the revenues of the Commonwealth, the Ways and Means Committee believes that they go far farther than merely maintaining the capital stock tax at the level set forth in the Budget ($35,550,000), but will, if enacted, bring in additional revenue—just how much additional the Committee has been unable to determine.

Summary of Committee's Findings

Although obliged to differ with some of the separate items for the biennium 1931-33 as set up in the printed Budget, the Ways and Means Committee nevertheless finds itself able to accept as a working basis the Budget figures for total General Fund revenues amounting to approximately $160,000,000 for the next biennium. The Committee feels, however, that this is in the nature of a conservative minimum estimate, and that several contingencies, such as the possible revival of general business next fall, the settlement of one or more very large inheritance estates, or even stricter methods of tax collection, may easily result in several million dollars of revenue in excess of the budget. If the Senate bill 918 and House bills 1073, 1480 and 1483 are enacted, the excess revenue over the Budget estimates could readily be $18,000,000 or $20,000,000, and total General Fund revenues would then be in the neighborhood of $180,000,000 for the biennium.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. DIETRICH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 787, Printer's No. 205, on page 23 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Dietrich,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 787, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-five) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed housed or assembled in certain building and structures not in cities of the first class second class and second class A by requiring certain construction and ways of egress equipment and maintenance providing for the licensing of projectionists requiring the submission of plans for examination and approval providing for the promulgation of rules and regulations for the enforcement of this act providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and in certain cases by the chiefs of fire departments in cities of the third class providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and repealing certain acts" by providing for fees for licensing of projectionists

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of information I would like to inquire as to whether the five days for the bill to remain on the postponed calendar has not already passed on this bill.

The SPEAKER. The bill, that was just called up by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Dietrich, was placed upon the postponed calendar on May 5. On May 13 the Reference Bureau advises that a motion was made to extend the time for a further period of five days; that is, five legislative days or five days in which the House is in session. The next day after the thirteenth on which the House was in session was the eighteenth. It was also in session on the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first. The twenty-fifth was the fifth day and today is the sixth day, and the bill appears to be improperly upon the calendar.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED CALENDAR DROPPED

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I move that all bills on final passage postponed be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED CALENDAR DROPPED

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 2039 (Senate Bill No. 909) Printer's No. 484, on page 22 of today's calendar, bill on third reading postponed be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION

GREATER PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL AUTHORIZED TO STUDY LABOR CONDITIONS

Mr. DeFREHN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, May 26, 1931.

Whereas, There is an increasing tendency in this country to employ only young men in order to speed up industry and to deny employment to persons over the age of forty-five years, many of whom are still fully capable of manual labor for many years to come, and

Whereas, Such a policy creates a labor condition which needs correction, and ways and means should be devised whereby industry employing men over forty-five years of age will not meet unfair competition from industry which refuses such employment, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Greater Pennsylvania Council is hereby authorized to investigate and study ways and means to correct labor conditions caused by the refusal of industry to employ persons over the age of forty-five years and to inquire into the feasibility of aiding persons over the age of forty-five years in securing employment by imposing a graduated tax to be paid by employers on wages of employes under the age of forty-five years, the proceeds of such tax to be distributed on a graduated scale as a refund to employers for wages paid to persons employed over the age of forty-five years.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. J. W. GRIFFITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for further consideration.

Mr. SCHROCK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and sixty-two members voting in the affirmative and sixty-seven in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, with the permission of the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Mumford, I would like to ask a question. I just desire to know whether there is anybody in the House that can explain the bill.

It appears that the principal features of this bill have been stricken from it, and the bill merely provides for placing swimming pools and public bath houses, et cetera, under the control of the Department of Health, and if that is all this bill does, it seems to me there could be no objection to its passage. It apparently is a bill approved by the Department of Health, or, at least has the sanction of the Department of Health, for that reason unless there is specific objection, I can see no reason why this bill should not be passed to permit the proper inspection of bathing places.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I have just discussed the contents of this bill with Senator Harris, and he has said to me that the provision for establishing a Commission has been stricken from the bill and that it has been turned over to the Department of Health, is that correct, Mr. Spangler?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, yes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 3, page 15, by striking out all of lines 16 to 28, both inclusive.

Amend section 3, page 16, by striking out all of lines 1 to 3, inclusive, and renumber the remaining sections of the bill accordingly.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I again say that I do not want to delay the proceedings of this House at this time, but last night you passed the Howell bill as amended, which contained a provision that the Governor should have the right to fire members of the Public Service Commission. The Senate this morning by a vote of 30 to 20 refused to concur in the amendments made by the House. There is, the possibility that that provision may be held up, and the other circumstances that surround the Howell bill may entirely defeat the Howell bill in this session of the Legislature.

No one can say that we do not need some changes in our present public service company law. With that I think we are all in agreement. Certain features and certain changes have practically been unanimously agreed upon in almost all of the measures that have been submitted to this session of the Legislature. Senate Bill No. 976, of Senator McClure, is an amendment to the code or is a code in itself. As it came to the House it did not contain this feature of firing. Now, if you insist upon keeping that within this bill, it may result in our not passing any legislation to amend the public service company law, which will certainly bring condemnation upon this session of the Legislature.

Therefore, I appeal to the House to lay aside all question of partisanship, lay aside all of your own feelings in this matter, and let us look at it in the broad way of doing something for the people in reference to these changes in our public service company law by passing a bill upon which we can all agree and by which we can secure those changes upon which there has been unanimous agreement, while if we stick and insist upon these things in the House and in the Senate we cannot get any agreement, we may close this session without passing any legislation at all which will amend the Public Service Campany law, and those things which we all believe should be done, to wit: That the Public Service Commission should be given control over security issues, that the Public Service Commission should have a changed policy or should have a changed law in reference to the time when rates go into effect, and that on appeal to the Appellate Courts, findings of fact should be made by the Superior Court aside from those findings which have been made by the Commission. This bill will do that if you will leave this feature out, but if you insist upon this feature it only means that it is going to the Senate and that like the Howell bill it will be held up. Let us, therefore, not let this amendment go in, and let us see if we cannot get together on this legislation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The fourth section was read as follows:

Section 4 That section four of article five of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Whenever the commission receives notice any change proposed in any tariff or schedule filed or posted under the provisions of this act it shall have power either upon complaint or upon its own motion and if it so orders without answer or other formal pleading by the interested public service company after notice to hold a public hearing and make investigations as to the propriety of such proposed change and of the new rate practice or classification After such hearing and investigation whether completed before or after such change goes into effect the commission may make such order in reference to the new proposed rate practice or classification as it may deem just and lawful and no change in any tariff involving an increase in rates shall take effect until after the approval by the commission At any such hearing involving any proposed increase in any rate the burden of proof to show that such increased rate is just and reasonable shall be upon the public service company

[The] Except when increases in rates are involved the commission shall have power in its discretion and for good cause shown to permit changes in the tariffs or schedules filed and published upon less than the thirty days' notice specified in article two section one (f) of this act or upon other conditions which shall be just and reasonable]

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I know that you are all anxious to get to lunch, and I am only going to take two minutes—and I will stick to it.

This is a bill that we had up once before, and it was recommitted to a committee. It authorizes the State government to print the proceedings of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution. At that time I called your attention to the fact that our State printing bills exceeded a million dollars a year, and I could not see any reason for adding to it in this way.

A few days after the episode on this bill, received a letter from the Sons of the American Revolution, which reads as follows:

"Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, April 17, 1931.

Hon. Darlington Hoopes,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pa.

My dear Representative:

It is my understanding you are a descendant of Joshue Hoopes who came to Philadelphia in 1683 with William Penn. The Hoopes' are a famous Pennsylvania family several members thereof served in the Revolutionary War. I am proud to be related to the family.

Therefore, it is taken for granted that the Sons of the American Revolution meets with your favor for the good work done in marking historical places with bronze tablets, preserving Revolutionary dates, et cetera.

The year books of the proceedings of this organization contain valuable material relating to the War of the Revolution and these records should not be allowed to perish.

Will you kindly vote for Senate Bill No. 231 (Mansfield Bill) which has this end in view.

Respectfully,

J. Clark Mansfield."

That does not alter my position on this bill; the fact that I might come within its provisions if I chose to do so. I think it is bad legislation, and I think that we should not increase our printing bills at this time by legislation of this kind. I ask you to vote "no".

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOSE. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I consider this a very doubtful bill. It discriminates unfairly against the teacher, against the principal and against the superintendent.

The underlying principle of the retirement system is that the pensioner or the retired person should be retired at the end or nearly the end of his efficiency. This would retire a janitor at fifty. I have known a good many janitors, that have begun their work at twenty-five years of age; I have known a good many who have begun at less than that age. It would retire some janitors in their forties. It is unfair discrimination against the teachers, and unfair to the school people, and I ask the members of this House to vote this bill down.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I will ask you not to concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate to my property guard bill for the reason that those emendments have completely altered the original purpose of my bill. The Senate Judiciary General Committee has cut out the very heart of this bill, and they have mangled it in the same manner that the coal and iron police mangled the body of John Barkoski, and they will answer for this heinous offense to the outraged people of the State of Pennsylvania. I am not deploring the action of the Senate because it is my bill; it means nothing that my bill should have been so treated, but it means something to representative government that the people should have been so betrayed, because the people and especially those of western Pennsylvania, have shown in no unmistakable way that they were for this bill, and that they wanted and needed the protection provided for in the bill as it was originally drawn.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill was merely a bill for the benefit of humanity, a bill for the sake of saving human lives, a bill for the protection of private homes, and the Senate has seen fit to butcher it in the way that they have. I do not like to stand here and criticise the Senate, but I will say that as a member of the Legislature, I have certain definite responsibilities, and speaking as a member of the Legislature, I shall say in all candor, that there are certain Senators in connection with the history of this bill who have violated every rule of legislative fairness and human feeling. Week after week I called upon the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate in an endeavor to have them report out my bill or do something with it, but they purposely neld it until the closing days of the session, so that they then might more easily slash it with the knives that they had been sharpening over that long period of time. I will say also, Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, that the conspirators who have committed this treachery have covered themselves with undying infamy and have earned the contempt of mankind.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not wish to seem over-critical, but the Senate by their action last night have absolutely demonstrated that they do not have the wishes of the people at heart. They have placed their stamp of approval on this blood-thirsty system which has disgraced Pennsylvania before the entire nation. This group in the Senate Judiciary General Committee have condoned the acts of the gorillas who killed John Barkoski, they have condoned the acts of those monsters who shot into a schoolhouse at Bruceton while children were attending classes, they have condoned the acts of all those thugs, and gangsters and plug uglies that have borne the name of the coal and iron police.

On March 24th you passed a bill here, members of the House, which was a vigorous and healthy measure. The Senate has drained its lifeblood and sent it back to us a corpse.

Mr. Speaker, I move you that we do not concur in the amendments of the Senate.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. JOHN W. GRIFFITH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Musmanno.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUSMANNO. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHN W. GRIFFITH. Mr. Musmanno, just what benefit do you think these detectives or these property guards will be to anybody?

Mr. MUSMANNO. They will protect the property of their employers, and by doing so keep on the property of their employers, and will not invade the rights of people miles away, as the present coal and iron police have been and are doing.

Mr. JOHN W. GRIFFITH. Could not those employers just simply have private guards, who would do just as much for them? They have to pay for them, do they not?

Mr. MUSMANNO. They can employ watchmen if they see fit.

Mr. JOHN W. GRIFFITH. In case of a strike, because of industrial troubles, what would be the consequence?

Mr. MUSMANNO. In the event of a strike, the property-owners may call upon the State Police, they may call upon deputy sheriffs. There are municipal police, there are highway police, and any number of police that they may call upon in event of a riot or trouble. These industrial owners do not have to have police with sovereign powers to roam all over the State, enter private homes where they commit depredations, as they have in the last ten years.

Mr. JOHN W. GRIFFITH. I thank you.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not feel like allowing myself to be mesmerized here this evening. I have heard a number of these addresses, very very flowery, interesting indeed. As I said on one previous occasion, I have had a great deal of experience with policemen and I think I know what I am talking about. The very guard that this bill calls for would be the thing that would lead to the trouble that he is trying to prevent. I want to say to you that I am consistent in the matter. When his bill was up asking for the repeal of the coal and iron police, I voted for that bill. I voted against the so-called Musmanno property guard bill, but I did not take any stand on the floor of the House about it, because I thought it amounted to so little that it would never became a law. I voted against the admininstration bill, as you call it, creating the protective police service, and I am going to vote to sustain the amendments to this bill so that if we get officers of any kind they will have some little bit of authority. Now, I am going to tell you that in the case of trouble the only officer that can give good, efficient service and protect the people is the sheriff, or the chief deputy, or the state police. They are throwing this up to us about the Barkoski murder and they forget to call to your attention the Herrin massacre. I tell you members we have got to think of what we are doing. We don't want to allow a certain class of people to disarm us, and they are taking away some of the powers of our courts in the effort of trying to disarm us. I would rather pass this legislation, for after passing any of these bills we would be in better shape than to have any officer that is paid by the company in any shape or form. I thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

They were not concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 193

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 21, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 193, Printer's No. 394, entitled, "An Act making an appropriation for the preservation and reconditioning of the flags standards and guidons of the Pennsylvania regiments that served in the various wars in which the United States has engaged"

This bill would appropriate $3,000.00 for the preservation and reconditioning of the State regimental flags, standards, and guidons which are on display in the rotunda of the Capitol.

These flags, standards, and guidons are encased in bolting cloth wrappings within glass cases. I am reliably informed that there has been no deterioration in their condition since they were permanently placed in these cases. Moreover, there seems to be no agreement that preservative methods now being urged are actually effective.

In view of the fact that these relics are now being carefully preserved, there is no necessity for the expenditure which this bill would authorize.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GOVERNOR PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.
